SES Still Has Jobs

The Student Employment Service of the Monterey Peninsula has two problems, according to Phyllis Howard, Executive Director.

First, the SES has 96 jobs for disadvantaged youths that they are having difficulty in filling because of a lack of qualified applicants.

Disadvantaged youths are defined as those who are members of poor or low-income families; members of families receiving cash or other financial assistance from the county welfare department; those who have dropped out of school and will return to school in the fall.

Anyone who feels he qualifies under these qualifications should contact the Neighborhood Youth Corps or the Youth Opportunity Program or go to the SES office, 480 Webster Street in Monterey.

The other major problem facing the employment service is the lack of jobs for over 900 youths registered for summer work who do not meet the disadvantaged criteria.

Miss Howard is appealing to every local employer on the Monterey Peninsula to provide a job for these youths.

To place a job order for a student, employers should call 373-0143.

Ross Only Survivor Of Recall

In a near-records turnout, Seaside voters apparently decided last week to oust three of the four incumbent city council members. Only Steve Ross survived the recall election.

However, the outcomes in recall of Cerald McGrath, Oliver Murray and Pearl Carey were so close that a recount will most likely be called.

McGrath lost by seven votes (1,504-1,497); Murray by 22 (1,515-1,493) and Carey by 32 (1,530-1,498).

Ross won his election by 171 votes.

Elected to replace the three recalled councilman were Mrs. Billie Barton for Mrs. Carey's seat; Glenn Olea for McGrath's place and former mayor Joseph Cota for Murray's.

McGrath and Mrs. Carey have both indicated that they would probably ask for a recount of the ballots, while Murray has said that he is not sure yet.

If the election results are upheld, Mrs. Barton will serve out Mrs. Carey's term which expires in 1974. Olea will fill out McGrath's term which also expires in 1974. However, Cota will finish Murray's term which ends next spring.

The voting in the recall followed the same pattern as for the June 1 referendum election in which a city ordinance which would have allowed the city council to assume control of the redevelopment agency was defeated.

Voters at Martin Luther King Junior High School were heavily opposed to the recall (about 2-1/2-1) while they favored the council takeover of redevelopment by a 2-1 margin. On the other hand, voters at Fremont Junior High School were in favor of the recall and against the referendum by the same margin--3-1.

Loans to Help Med Students

Plans for a $12 million loan program to help disadvantaged medical students finance tuition for all four years of medical school were jointly announced by Bank of America, the American Medical Association and the Guggenheim and Sloan Foundations recently.

The program, effective September 1, is expected to double the number of minority group doctors in California within the next few years. Currently only 6 per cent of some 33,000 physicians in the state are from minority groups.

Under the new program, a student may borrow up to $4,500 annually to a maximum of $12,000 during his or her four years of medical education. Since tuition and related expenses for such training ranges to $18,000 in California, the balance could be made up by grants from various organizations such as the National Medical Fellowships, Inc.

The bank has committed the initial $12 million for the program with the AMA providing a guarantee.

But during the initial four years of medical education, a student would pay no interest on the loans with the Guggenheim and Sloan Foundations absorbing this expense.

A student would assume the interest payments which accumulate during his or her internship and residency. These payments would be monthly.

Payments on the principal would begin only after the student enters practice, approximately eight years from the first advance. At this point, the young physician will have 10 years to repay the loan.

Applications for the special program will be available at all eight medical schools in California.

Jobs For Disadvantaged Available

Short-term training jobs have been opened up for almost 1,750 disadvantaged workers in northern California by a top-priority State project, a high Reagan Administration official announced recently in San Francisco.

Benjamin Hargrave, deputy regional director of the State Department of Human Resources Development (HUD), said the total number of training positions involved would reach about 2,200 in northern California. All will be for 13 weeks or less, he added.

Funding for the project -- an extension of HRD's Supplemental Training and Employment Program (STEP)--was activated just four weeks ago by Presidental order, Hargrave said.

STEP pays a wage supplement of up to $2 per hour for as long as 13 weeks in order to create training positions for disadvantaged workers who are unable to get or hold jobs because of the times.

All of the positions are with governmental and private nonprofit agencies.

Hargrave said two HRD divisions have been working at full speed on the $6 million statewide program.

Job Training, Development and Placement Division forces in northern California have been allocated enough money for 1,800 full 13-week training slots. So far, Hargrave said, the division has signed agreements with employers for 1,350 persons.

At the same time, he said, HRD's Rural Manpower Services division (formerly known as the Farm Labor Services division) has signed contracts for 400 positions in northern California.

Some 5,000 training slots have been authorized for the project in all of California, according to Hargrave.

Individual contracts signed in northern California to date are for as many as 100 positions, Hargrave added, with such agencies and governmental bodies as Tulare County and the City of Berkeley, the California Youth Authority and a variety of non-profit agencies such as the United Council of Spanish Speaking in Contra Costa County.

Only disadvantaged persons -- primarily adults -- meeting federal poverty criteria are eligible for the program.

'Specials' Must Be Available

Starting July 12, all grocery stores advertising "specials" must have all such items "conspicuously and readily available for sale at or below the advertised prices."

This new Federal Trade Commission regulation, issued on May 13, said that advertising of "specials" that are not available to customers when they get to the store comprise unfair competitive tactics and violate federal laws against unfair or deceptive trade practices.

General disclaimers in chain-store advertising, to the effect that "not all items available at all stores," will not be regarded as sufficient disclosure. Advertisements must clearly disclose any exceptions or restrictions on availability of advertised items.

Provision of "rain checks" for later use at sale prices will not meet the new FTC regulation. However, retailers will be excused if quantities "sufficient to meet reasonably anticipated demands" were on hand or if the store can prove the items were ordered in adequate time for delivery on the sale date, but not received.

The FTC said its new regulation resulted from investigations, surveys, studies and consumer complaints indicating that "specials" were not available in some stores or supplies were inadequate to meet demand.

The FTC cited a 1970 survey in Nassau County, Long Island, which revealed that on January 16 only 28 of 52 stores inspected had all their leading specials visually available for sale and only 20 had all the items marked with advertised sale price.

Robert Pitofsky, director of the FTC's Consumer Protection Bureau, said that regulation was aimed at "the store that systematically advertised price."

Pitofsky said such unavailability was more prevalent in chain stores in low-income inner-city outlets. He said cease-and-desist proceedings would be instituted against individual wrongdoers and violators would be subject to fines of $5,000.

The same ruling, the FTC said, will be applied at a later date to other advertised commodities. This statement was interpreted to mean that department, drug and hardware stores would also be included.

Val Litton, operations manager of the Consumers Co-operative of Berkeley, which includes eight supermarkets in the bay area, said the FTC ruling would not affect Co-op centers.

"Since instituting our discount policy, we no longer advertise 'specials' as such," Litton said, "and therefore we no longer find it necessary to issue 'rain checks' when our stock runs out. However, we do take advantage of manufactures' promotional allowances and pass these on to our customers for the length of the promotion."

More Sales Are Made

California sales of merchandise subject to the sales tax reached a first quarter record of $10.4 billion this year, topping the 1970 first-quarter by 4.8 percent, it was reported recently by the State Board of Equalization in its publication, "Trade Outlets and Taxable Sales in California" for the first quarter of 1971.

The report, prepared by the Board's Statistical Research and Consulting Division, compares the 4.8 percent increase with the Consumer Price Index advance of 4.0 percent in March, marking "the first time in a year that sales advanced at a rate higher than the rate of increasing prices."

The grand total of sales and use tax collections statewide for the first quarter of 1971 was $543 million--$430.8 million in state sales tax collections and $112.2 million in local sales tax collections.

Locally, taxable sales during the first quarter in Monterey County were up 9.1 percent to reach a total of $96,343,000. Sales in Seaside were at 7,270,000.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, sales in the first quarter of this year surpassed the level of the 1970 fourth quarter by approximately 6 percent, according to the report.

A large part of the surge in first-quarter resulted, Board economists state, from a revival in demand for new automobiles that had been thottled back by the ten-week General Motors strike ending in late November.

Viet Prisoner Speaks Here

A rather unique opportunity will be afforded Peninsula residents on Sunday afternoon, July 11 at 4 p.m.

A woman who was taken prisoner by the Viet Cong, Marjorie Nelson of the American Friends Service Committee will speak at the Monterey Peninsula College Lecture Forum, Room LF 103.

Dr. Nelson, a physician, has just return from a visit to the Quaker Rehabilitation Center at Quang Ngai where she was serving when the area was overrun by the Viet-Cong and she was taken prisoner during the TET offensive in February of 1968.

The Quang Ngai Rehabilitation Center is located in the northern part of South Vietnam quite close to the scene of the My Lai massacre.

Housed on the grounds of the Quang Ngai Province Hospital, the center provides training in the making of artificial limbs as well as other services for limbless persons.

The Quakers also maintain a child care centerand, at the time that Dr. Nelso was there, did medical work in Quang Ngai prison located nearby.

The staff consists of American and British Quakers plus a number of Vietnamese, some of whom are being trained by the Quaker team.

Because the Quaker team would not accept protection from the troops of either side, they stayed on the job even when the battles swirled right through the hospital compound and did not at any time evacuate. It was this decision not to evacuate that caused Marjorie Nelson at one time to be capture by the Viet Cong.

Decrease

State Social Welfare Director Robert B. Carleson has announced that for the second consecutive month the number of recipients collection welfare in California has decreased.

Statistics released for the month of May show a total of 2,246,891 recipients on the welfare rolls. This figure is 20,000 less than was reported for April and more than 46,000 less than the State had on the rolls in March.

Cranston Asks For More Funds

California Senator Alan Cranston has appealed for an additional appropriation of $21,120,000 to double the Administration's proposed program to treat drug addiction among returning Vietnam war veterans.

"Any delay in maximum gear-up to treat the thousands of addicted veterans already on the streets or soon to be there following discharge from service would be a national tragedy and disaster after all the rhetoric that has surrounded the drug issue," Cranston told a Senate appropriations subcommittee.

He said the extra money would enable the Veterans Administration to open 60 drug treatment centers, instead of 6,000, during the next fiscal year.

Cranston's appeal for an extra $21,120,000 in drug-fighting funds was part of his over-all request that VA funding for fiscal 1972 be boosted by $390,936,184 over the amount requested in the President's budget.

Cranston asked for an additional $331,020,00 0 for medical care: $18,216,184 more for medical and prosthetic research; $1,100,000 more for medical administration and miscellaneous operating expenses; .. $7,860,000 addditionalfor construction of hospital and domiciliary facilities, and $32,740,000 more for general operatin expenses.

Applications Available

Applications for the spring semester, 1972, will be available at San Jose State College July 15. The initial filing period will be August 2 through 30.

All applications received in the month of August will receive the same consideration regardless of the day they are mailed, explained Roy Delpier, SJSC Admissions Officer.

Application procedures will be the same as those used last November for the fall term as part of the California State Colleges Common Admission Program. Prospective applicants may file only one application with the state college system, listing first, second, third and fourth choice colleges.

Colleges not filling enrollment categories during the initial filing period will continue to accept applications on a first come, first served basis until quotas are filled, Delpier stated.

SJSC will not consider lower division transfer applications for the spring semester.

Buckley Will Speak at $100-Plate Dinner

United States Senator James L. Buckley of New York will be the featured speaker at a dinner sponsored by the Monterey County Republican Central Committee on July 19 at the Del Monte Lodge in Pebble Beach.

Bill Temple of Salinas, Chairman of the Monterey County Central Committee, said that Congressman Burt L. Talcott, State Senator Donald L. Grunsky and Assemblyman Bob Wood, legislative represenatives for Monterey County, would also be special guests at the $100 a plate affair.

Senator Buckley is the brother of publisher and nationally syndicated columnist and television host William F. Buckley Jr. He was elected to the Senate in 1970 after a three-way race that generated national interest.

The 8 p.m. dinner will be preceded by a reception and social hour where guests will have the opportunity to meet Buckley and the area legislators.

Dinner arrangements and ticket sales are being co-ordinated on the Monterey Peninsula by Mrs. Betty Rice, Mrs. June C. Duran, Dewey Evans and William Burleigh.

Additional information about the Republican Gala Gold Star Dinner may be obtained by calling 373-2222 in Monterey or 424-6045 in Salinas.

Buckley is a member of the Senate Committees on Aeronautical and Space Science, Public Works and the District of Columbia.

A graduate of Yale Law School, Buckley, prior to his successful election, worked 17 years in the international business comunity negotiating agreements with government agencies and private firms in the financing and conducting of foreign business throughoutthe world.

During this time, Buckley averaged 50,000 miles of travel a year and expanded his early interest in ecological problems that remain with him in the senate today. He is a member of the National Audobon Society, International Oceanographic Foundation, National Wildlife Federation, Wilderness Society and the Explorers Club.

Temple said that Buckley's interest in natural history and conservation was a prime consideration in selecting Monterey County for one of his two appearances in California this year.

The recall elections are all over except for the recounts which could just possibly change one or two of the results. However, we won't know about that for a couple of weeks when the political maneuvering gets over. The election gave Mayor Lou Haddad the majority of votes that he needs to carry out any kind of program he now wants.

Mayor Haddadis the kind of a person who can only operate successfully when he has a clear majority of councilmen on his side. He obviously is the type of individual that can brook no opposition. He proved this when he was unable to work out a compromise with the councilmen just defeated in the recall.

I believe that the voters of Seaside should give this new council a chance to work out a program looking toward the best interests of all of the citizens of this community. Joe Cota, Mrs. Billie Barton and Glen Olea are all fair-minded people. I know that they have been appointees of Mayor Haddad in the past, but now that they have a responsibility to perform for all of the people of Seaside, I am sure that those responsibilities will raise them above any partisanship in their votes on the new council. I believe that they will work independently on most issues and that a harmonious situation can evolve from intelligent participation and cooperation by all concerned.

I have heard that now some of the people, who were active in the last campaign, want to

Librarian Appointed To Council

Upon recommendation of Congressman Burt L. Talcott, Librarian Robert Fessenden, head of resources and technical services at the University Library on the University of California, Santa Cruz campus, has been appointed to serve on the Federal (Government's Regional Archives Advisory Council.

Fessenden will be assigned to the Council's ninth region, which covers the States of Arizona, California, Hawaii and Nevada. His term will end December 31, 1974.

Among these are records of U. S. diplomatic missions, large collections of materials relating to the Continental and Confederation Congresses and the Constitutional Convention, the Revolutionary and Civil Wars, German records captured at the end of World War II, records of Indian tribes, territorial papers, census records and proceeding of the U.S. district courts.

Horse Show Will Be Tops

A show to please all tastes and competition for all ages -- that's a capsule description of the 1971 national horse show which runs concurrently with Monterey County Fair, August 11 through 15.

The premium list, just issued and now available at the Monterey County fairgrounds or from area chambers of commerce offices, notes three shows daily for the full five days of the fair -- morning, afternoon and evening.

There are events for harness ponies and horses, hunters and jumpers and for working and pleasure horses. There are team roping and cutting horse competition and contests for three- and five-gaited saddle horses.

There is also a separate division for junior horsemen (defined as "children under 21 years of age").

A new manager, Frank Jordano of Santa Barbara, is in charge of the horse show this year.

Judges will be Wiliam Rowan (harness and saddle classes).

To make room for the many events scheduled during the five-day show, there will be anelimination contest for stock and hackamore horses on August 10. Only the top five horses in each class will compete during the five days of the fair.

Entries for the 1971 horse show must be received by July 9.

One of the easiest and cheapest ways to plant a lawn or a large area of flowers is by Hydro-Seeding. This uses a large machine which combines the seed, fertilizer, melch and soil stablizer and shoots this mixture into the soil in one operation. A 10-10-10 fertilizer is used at a rate of 430 pounds per acre.

This method insures a thorough, even distribution of seeds and fertilizer. It helps hold the soil in the place until the plants or grass form an erosion control and the job can be accomplished in one-third of the time.

Before the area can be planted, it must be prepared for the seeds. The land should be roto-tilled and leveled and a sprinkler system should be installed for the most even water coverage. Several different seed mixes can be used and the area may even be planted with wild flowers. Lasen, flower and wild flower seeds can be obtained from most nurseries at a variety or prices, depending on a desired mix.

After the area is planted it should not be watered for the first 8-12 hours. The mulch has to dry and grab the soil. The area should then be kept damp, but not wet.

The Hydro seeding is best done by a professional to insure the distribution of seed, mulch and fertilizer.

start a recall against Mayor Haddad. I think that that would be a mistake, not because it couldn't succeed but because it would continue the turmoil that has existed in Seaside politics for the last year. Let the Mayor and the newly elected councilmen try to salvage what they can from a city that is tired of fighting and squabbling. If they don't perform to the best interests of all of the people of Seaside, then, there will be time enough to defeat them in the next election which is less than a year away.

In the meantime, why should these new councilmen be saddled with a recall movement before they can even take office. This is what happenned to the last council and it got us nothing but turmoil. Let's give them a fair chance. People will rise to their responsibilities when given a chance.

We personally wish the council and the Mayor success and godspeed and pledge our cooperation to try to restore confidence in the city government.

Questions and Answers

Q -- Iam a veteran who receives compensation from the VA. Are my children eligible for educational assistance?

A -- Yes, if you are 100 percent permanently disabled from a service-connected. If less than 100 percent disabled, no. If more than 50% disabled you are eligible to continue receiving increased compensation for children attending college to age 23.

Q. In claiming reimbursement for Part B benefits under Medicare may a claimant submit copies of cancelled checks in lieu of a "receipted" bill. Does the claimant still need an itemized bill?

A. Yes. The cancelled check serves only as a receipt show the nature of the service and the charges made for them. The reverse of the 1490 (Request For Payment) lists what the bill must show.

Q -- Shortly after I was separated from service I converted my GI insurance policy, and have kept it in force. May I borrow on this policy?

A -- Yes. Your policy describes the loan features. If you wish exact figures, you should contact the VA office to which you send your insurance premiums. They will explain your policy's loan provisions, tell you the amount available, and provide an application form. The interest charge on policy loans was raised to five percent earlier this year.

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

Sudden death in a spacecraft, and the whole world mourns. If three Americans had died, instead of three Russians, the world would have been equally sad or maybe more sad.

On the same day the Russian cosmonauts died, 150 Americans died in the United States in automobile accidents. About half of these deaths were because somebody was intoxicated. A small handfulof relatives and acquaintances mourned their deaths. On the same day 900 Americans died of cancer. Their relatives and friends mourned them, but not the whole world. Several young American soldiers died that day in Vietnam, as did a number of Vietnames we blasted to oblivion. Some Americans mourned the Americans and rejoiced at the deaths of the infidel Vietnamese and vice versa.

Because communism represents a threat to our basic freedoms, one of which is unlimited freedom to exploit at will, we have spent billions of dollars and thousands of lives trying to outwit, outinvent, discourage and discredit the Russians for fifty years. We send spy planes over their territory, but are outraged when their submarines enter our half of the Pacific Ocean. We literally stole from our poor to finance a space project to try to outdo their space ventures - not to advance our offensive or defensive weaponry, but to save our precious prestige.

We blame the Russians, at least in part and probably rightly so, for the mess we got into in Korea at a cost of 33,000 lives. We dislike them intensely for the trouble they cause us in Germany. We consider their actions in supporting the North Vietnamese as just barely short of deliberate murder, and now we make a big display of being terribly sad when their latest space venture, which is about four years ahead of our best efforts, suffers a very serious setback.

Certainly, three very brave men died. Brave men die every day on both sides in Vietnam, on our city streets trying to maintain law and order in spite of an spathetic society - yet Washington, D. D., doesn't send an emissary to be photographed for newsreel cameras at their funerals.

The evidence is very strong that we are cheapening the deaths of these brave men, whether in America or elsewhere, when we make such a hypocritical pretense of being genuinely concerned, when we are, in the case of the Russian space project setback, secretly rejoicing at their bad luck. Far better, perhaps, to just send a letter to Moscow saying something like this:

"Sear Sir: We are sorry that three of your best spacemen died in the process, but we are of course very happy that your space station project has had problems, because we are fully aware that said space station and others to follow it were designed to become part of your nuclear war potential. Better luck next time."

And now - today's great idea for lasting peace between Russia and the U. S. - have the U. S. Congress live in Moscow and meet in the Kremlin, and have the Supreme Soviet live in Washington and meet in our capitol building. Who would dare press the first button ?

Your Social Security

by Raymond MacDonald

Q. As a college student, I work part-time each semester and full-time during college vacations. The Social Security contributions coming out of my pay could help me meet expenses. Why deduct from my earnings now, considering the number of full-time years in the future I'll have to pay? Will I really get my money's worth over the long run?

A. You and other young workers--part-time or full-time-are earning valuable Social Security retirement, survivors, and disability insurance protection worth more than the Social Security contributions you pay. If you have 1-1/2 years or more of recent work in your Social Security record, you and your family may count on monthly benefits if you become disabled. And your family would get monthly benefits if you died. Earnings of as little as $50 in any 3-month calendar quarter will assure you of credit toward this valuable insurance protection.

Q. My father was discharged from the hospital last month fully recovered from accident injuries. He has since suffered a stroke and needs nursing home care. Will the cost of the nursing home be covered under Medicare?

A. No. Medicare will not cover care in an extended care facility unless he is hospitalizaed for 3 days or more because of his stroke. One of the requirements for coverage in an extended care facility is that a person be admitted to the nursing home for treatment of the same condition for which he was hospitalized.

Q. I just turned 65. I was told if I do not perform substantial services in my business I could get Social Security benefits. What is meant by "substantial services"?

A. "Substantial services" refers to the amount of time you work in your business, the nature of your services, the type of business, and the relationship of your activities before retirement to those after retirement. Usually, 45 or more hours of work in a month is considered "Substantial services". Less than 45 hours may be considered substantial if the service is managing a large business or working in a highly skilled occupation. You can get more detailed information at your Social Seurity office.

Q. I retired a few years ago and began receiving Social Security payments. Recently, I returned to work. Must I contribute to Social Security now?

A. Yes, if your job is covered by Social Security. And this is likely, because over 90 percent of all jobs are covered. The contributions must be paid without regard to retirement status, age, or whether you are getting Social Security payments. An important point is that the contributions may increase the Social Security payment you will receive when you again stop working if your earnings are high enough.

Q. I am a newlywed who plans to keep working until my husband completes dental school. My employer tells me I should have my Social Security card changed since it still shows my maiden name. Is this necessary? I understand you only receive one number in your lifetime anyway.

A. It's true you keep the same Social Security number for life. However, your employer is right. For Social Security record-keeping purposes, your name and number both must be correct to assure proper credit for your earnings. The people at any Social Security office can quickly issue you a new card showing your new name.

Q. The Social Security payments to my mother and me stopped when I reached 18 in April. They were paid on my late father's Social Security. I plan to start junior college this fall and understand I'll receive student benefits. Will mother's payments continue.

A. No, they won't unless she will then be 60. At that age she can decide to take reduced widow's benefits or, if she prefers, wait until 62 and receive full benefits. On the other hand, if your mother is severely disabled, she might qualify as a disabled widow as early as age 50. Any Social Security office will be glad to furnished additional details.

Q. I have heard that once you reach a certain age, you can earn as much as you want and still get Social Security. Is this true?

A. Yes, when a person reaches age 72, he will receive his Social Security benefits regardless of what his earnings are.

GUEST SPEAKER - Specialist 5 Thomas Van Putten will speak Monday, July 12 at 8 p.m. at King Hall, Naval Postgraduate School. Captive of North Vietnamese for 13 months, he is one of few men to escape from prison camp. He will relate experiences of his captivity, details of his escape and how he survived in jungle for 18 days before rescued. Talk is open to public.

Jehovah's Witnesses Meet

On July 14, delegates from 298 congregations of Jehovah's witnesses in Central and Northern California and Western Nevada will converge on San Francisco's Kezar Stadium for the "Divine Name" District Assembly.

The Marina congregation will be among participating congregations according to Carl Braddock, presiding minister.

"This five-day Bible conference is just one more indication of the tremendous growth of our organization in the past few years," Braddock said. "Moreover, by the house-to-house method of training and teaching, Jehovah's witnesses comprise the largest single body of unified ministers in the world," he declared.

During 1970 a peak of 1,483,430 ministers devoted 267,581,120 hours to the ministerial service at their own expense.

On an average, 1,146,378 Bible studies were conducted each week in the homes of interested persons free of charge. "This method of personal Bible instructions has produced thousands of active ministers, not mere members," Braddock stated.

In spite of Communistic opposition, over 120,000 ministers are active in 11 Iron Curtain countries.

Along with the Bible, the main textbook used in the home Bible study program is the book, "The Truth That Leads To Eternal Life." This is a 22-chapter discussion of the basic doctrines taught in the Bible. First released in July 1968, 5,000,000 copies were distributed in English and Spanish. Now, just three years later, 40,000,000 copies have been printed in 71 languages, making it the number one "best seller" in the western world with the exception of the Bible.

The Watchtower Society also provides Bibles and other Bible literature used in the ministry. Last year, their printing plant in Brooklyn printed and bound more than 24,000,000 Bibles and hard-bound books.

The witnesses' foremost publication, "The Watchtower" magazine, has a current printing of 7,300,00 each issue, printed twice monthly in 73 languages. Its companion "Awake!" is currently printed semi-monthly in 27 languages at a rate of 7,025,000 copies each issue. They have the largest distribution of any magazine of their kind in the world.

The Brooklyn headquarters printing plant is not the only one owned and operated by Jehovah's witnesses. They also operate large plants in Canada, England, Germany, South Africa and Switzerland, to name a few.

"With Bible education as their foremost goal," Braddock explained, "the Watchtower Society regularly sponsors and prepares conventions such as the one at Kezar Stadium July 14-18."

"More than 30,000 delegates are expected to attend the San Francisco gathering to hear the widely advertised public Bible address, 'When All Nations Collide Head-on With God' ". Braddock concluded.

MORE SCHOLARSHIPS - Coca-Cola USA executive Harold A. Hamilton (left) presents check to David Kent, executive director of National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students (NSSFNS), to provide eleven more college scholarships. Program started with six scholarships in 1968, will aid 36 black students during 1971.

ChurchServices

Communion services will be held at Christian Science churches Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon on "Sacrament" is this Scriptural text: "To do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased."

Why it is important to do this is indicated in this passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Prayer, watching and working, combined with self-immolation, are God's gracious means for accomplishing whatever has been successfully done for the Christianization and health of mankind."

Services begin at 10:30 a.m. at the Christian Science Church in Monterey.

NO LIMITATIONS

Under a new law, the Veterans Administration is authorized to make direct loans to eligible vets for specially adapted housing in any part of the country.

Celebrating Birthday

The 29th birthday of the United States Navy Waves will be held at the Naval Postgraduate School, Wednesday, July 28.

The event will include cocktails and dinner in the Commissioned Officer Mess. Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m. and dinner at 8.

Reservations or information may be obtained by phoning Lt. Margaret Eastland at 646-2012 or Commander Phyllis Shultz at 646-2186.

CTA Survey Shows 'Do-Nothing' Attitude Prevails

Most of California's school districts are doing little to deal with mounting social problems incidental to racial discrimination, a statewide survey by the California Teachers Association (CTA) recently disclosed.

James O. Lewis, CTA human relations executive, said the results of the survey "give cause for great disappointment and documents a deplorable lack of response to mounting human relations problems in our schools."

It reveals a "shuffling of the feet do-nithing or as little as you can" attitude in school district administration, he said.

The survey involved 739 school districts enrolling 79.8 percent of the state's average daily attendance (a.d.a.)

It was conducted by the Research Department of the 173,000-member CTA, with the cooperation of the California Association of School Administrators (CASA).

The survey, entitled "Human Relations Programs in California School Districts, 1970-71," (Research Bulletin 258), shows that:

*Only 88 of the districts (11.9 percent) reported they employ a person who is assigned the responsibility for a human relations program. Of these, slightly more than half have made that position full time. Less than half of the medium to large school districts -- those with more than 10,000 pupils, which generally enroll most of the students from ethnic minorities -- reported they had human relations programs.

*Less than one-third of the 739 districts reported they have a board policy relating to the employment of minority persons and the data indicates that in most cases this reflects a generalized policy statement of district nondiscrimination on the basis of race, creed, or color.

*A low of 3.9 percent or 29 districts reported that a Human Relations Commission or structured representational body had been formed in their district to give direction and focus in design and development of intergroup relations program.

*Only 38 of the districts (5.1 percent) indicated their board had formally adopted policies establishing multicultural or ethnic studies programs in the district. A much larger percentage responded that varying degrees of special emphasis were given in the curriculum to the history and/or culture of various ethnic groups. Of these, 275 districts (37.2 percent) reported special empahsis in Mexican-American history and culture; 31.7 percent Negro-American culture; 23.1 percent Indian-American culture; 13 percent Japanese-American culture, and 10.4 percent Chinese-American culture. Over one-quarter of the districts (29.6 percent) reported they had no special emphasis in curriculum in this area.

*Approximately one-third of the 95 districts with 10,000 and over a.d.a. reported a districtwide school-community human relations council. Of the total districts responding to the survey, only 83 (11.2 percent) reported such a council.

*About 25 percent of the districts reported they held inservice programs in human relations, however, few of such programs included complete faculties or involved mandated attendance. Almost 100 percent of the reported inservice training for certificated personnel and over 50 percent included non-certificated personnel.

Lewis said the survey shows that too many California educators and school boards are deluding themselves into believing there are no problems in school stemming from discrimination and/or institutional racism. It mirrors the tendency of educators to seek a dubious rationale designed to absolve the school from any responsibility by pointing out that discrimination in educational opportunity, jobs, housing, and so forth, are "societal ills" that have been thrust upon the schools.

"Such attitudes," Lewis declared, "tend to perpetuate the problems. For thistory has shown us that social problems are not solved when left to ad hoc measures. Rather, we must create institutions, such as human relations programs with viable affirmative action components to organize, unite and activate school-community resources to jointly work toward solution of the problems."

Church Gets Lion's Share Of Donations

The lion's share of the philanthropic donations of Americans last year went to churches, although Americans are reported to have contributed somewhat less percentagewise to religion and religious oriented activities during 1970 than they did in 1969.

Religious causes and churches receive $8.2 billion -- 44.8 percent of the $18.3 billion which Americans donated to charity last year.

In 1969, religion accounted for 45.2 percent -- $7.9 billion -- of donations totaling $17.6 billion.

The giving last year was curbed by a combination of new tax restrictions, increasing inflation and the sluggish economy, according to the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel.

That association's president, A. C. Barnett, said it had been a traumatic year for philanthropy.

Philantropic giving grew during 1971 at a comparatively samll 4 percent, compared with the 1969 growth rate of 8 percent -- an overall increase of only $700 million, said Barnett. Association statistics were published in the 16th annual report, titled: "GIVING, U.S.A."

The report showed that individual contributions to charities were responsible for the growth in philanthropic giving in 1970. An increase of $100 million by foundations was offset by a similar decline in bequests. Corporate charitable donations were the same in 1970 as they were in 1969 -- $900 million.

The major share of funds was given by individuals -- $14.3 billion, or 78 percent of the total.

Bequests totaled $1.4 billion.

Foundations gave $1.7 billion.

The largest percentage increase in philanthropy came in the category of social welfare gifts, which were up 6.9 percent to $1.26 billion. Other categories favored by contributors included health and hospitals, which received a little over $3 billion, a 6 percent increase over 1969, and education, which received $3.05 billion, a $ percent increase.

Booklet Available

The California Historical Landmarks booklet is now available from the State Department of Parks and Recreation, at $1, which includes tax and postage.

Its 134 pages of photographs and descriptive text covers the more than 840 missions, forts ghost and mining towns, and other sites of interest around the state.

Included is a list of the 37 historic parks and monuments operated and maintained by the state.

Over the years the booklet has developed into a perennial best seller with more than 20 thousand sold since its last revision. It is an ideal travelling companion as all landmark data is presented in numerical order by registration (highway marker) number, cross-indexed by county.

The booklet may be purchased at many state park offices or by sending a check or money order to the Reservation Office, Department of Parks and Recreation, P.O. Box 2390, Sacramento, Ca. 95811.

Bill Could Open Income Tax Returns

State Senator Mervyn M. Dymally (D, Los Angeles), chairman of the Senate Majority Caucus, has warned that one of Governor Reagan's proposed welfare reform bills would give the Governor and his administrative officials the right to inspect the income tax return of any California citizen.

"It is bad enough that this bill would permit officials in every county the right to poke into welfare recipients' income tax returns," Dymally said during a hearing on the bill.

"But as it is worded, Senate Bill 546 does not limit this to welfare recipients but extends it to 'the income tax return of any individual.'"

Dymally, a member of the Senate Health and Welfare Committee, added that, "While the Governor is most irate over a supposed leak of information about his own income tax return, he is at the same time proposing legislation that would literally open income tax records to anyone in his administration who could convince a department official of the need to pry into a citizen's income tax records."

When the bill came up for hearing before the Senate Health and Welfare Committee, Dymally urged that changes be made in those provisions.

"As written, they make a mockery of the Governor's great show of concern about invasion of privacy and his claim that tax records should be private," Dymally said.

The Franchise Tax Board, which handles state income tax forms, has already written a letter opposing the bill's provisions as permitting "fishing expeditions," Dymally pointed out.

The bill states that the Board may permit the State Director of Social Welfare, or a representative named by the director, "to inspect the income tax return of any individual or individuals designated by the director."

It goes on to state that the State Director of Social Welfare may give any member of his department the same authority. It also permits the director to designate someone in each county welfare department with the same authority to request income tax records.

"It is not difficult to imagine officials of the Reagan Administration, or any administration, using this vast power on occasion to peek into the income tax records of citizens for a wide range of questionable purposes having nothing to do with welfare," Dymally said.

Coping With High Pressure

If you have high blood pressure -- hypertension to the physician -- you are not alone, says your Alameda County Heart Association. Millions of Americans are afflicted with this disorder and most of them are getting along well after having consulted with a physician. Many drugs are available to help him tailor treatment to a patient's needs and condition. Certain prescribed diet changes and rest also are useful.

However, apart from this, there are a half-dozen general rules that most patients with high blood pressure should follow. Depending on the patient, some will be more important than others, says a leaflet recently issued by the Alameda County Heart Association. The hypertensive individual is urged to ask his doctor which of these is important for him:

*Try not to worry. Worry, nervous tension and emotional storms help to push blood pressure higher.

*Don't put on excess weight. Overweight is a hazard to health.

*Regulate use of tobacco and alcohol as your doctor specifies. Smoking can raise blood pressure; alcohol doesn't, but some people react poorly to it.

*Follow a regular pattern of rest stops during the day. Taking time out even before you become tired will help to avoid the tenseness and irritability (to be avoided by the hypertensive person) that go with fatigue.

*Get plenty of sleep. During sleep, blood pressure falls to its lowest levels. It rises on waking.

*Choose sports that are not competitive. Exercise is good for you. But overexercise can lead to complications. Avoid sports where you can't stop if you become tired.

For more information about high blood pressure, ask the Alameda County Heart Association for the leaflet "Your Blood Pressure." But remember, it takes two to treat it -- you and your doctor.

Concert To Benefit Farmworkers

An extravaganza benefit concert called "FIESTA CAMPESINA" will be staged Saturday, July 10, from 6 p.m. at Spartan Stadium, San Jose Stage College.

Famous artists donating their services will include: Joan Baez, the dedicated anti-war activist folksinger; the all new Bola Sete Quintet, just back from two years in Brazil; Redwing, a very fine musical group who record on Fantasy Records and whose members have backed such artists as Bob Dylan ; premier rock group, The Steve Miller Band; Vern and Ray and concluding the major acts of the day will be Cal Tjader, whose name is so prominent among Bay Area jazz enthusiasts that he hardly needs any introduction.

Other very fine local groups on the afternoon's bill are El Mariachi de San Jose, a very fine San Jose based mariachi ensemble and the Teatro De La Gente, a very fine original radical theater troupe.

Master of Ceremonies will be the well-known Chicano television personage Marcos Gutierrez, who presents a weekly program on television.

The afternoon's main speaker will be Dolores Huerta, Vice-President and chief negotiator for the United Farmworkers. Other surprise appearances are expected during the course of the afternoon.

"Fiesta Campesina" is a major fundraising benefit for the Farmworkers struggle this year.

GLYPH Sound System of Berkely will provide the sound for the concert. GLYPH is a very new and revolutionary concept in sound systems. The speakers were carefully designed to resemble the workings and structure of the human throat. The sound promoted by the system is so clear and easily heard that a close intimacy is produced between the performer, his music and the audience.

Tickets for "Fiesta Campesina" are $3 in advance and at the door. Locally tickets may be purchased at Bookshop Santa Cruz, 1547 Pacific Avenue, Santa Cruz and at the Polygon, 837 Cannery Pow, Monterey.

Festival Will Honor Jeffers

Poetry readings, films and informal audiences-participating discussions will highlight a two-day festival honoring the late Robinson Jeffers, Carmel's controversial poet of man and nature, July 30-31 at Monterey Peninsula College.

The third annual tribute, sponsored by MPC as a public service, is being coordinated by Elayne W. Fitzpatrick, summer session philosophy instructor at MPC and Dr. Robert J. Brophy, chairman, Jeffers Studies, Occidental College, Los Angeles and professor of English, California State College at Long Beach.

Festival sessions will begin at 8 p.m. each evening. There will also be a coffee session at 10:30 a.m. July 31, followed by an afternoon tour of Jeffers' "Tour House" on Carmel Point.

Tickets will be available July 10 at the MPC community services office, Abinante's Music in Monterey and at the Thunderbird Bookstore, Carmel Valley.

Of Jeffers' philosophy, Dr. Brophy has noted: "He called it 'inhumanism' years ago; today we label it 'ecology'." Brophy also points out that the Carmel poet's work is currently featured in "Not Man Apart," a Sierra Club book.

Diana Talks

"The process of becoming an actress or actor has a great deal to do with becoming oneself," says actress Diana Sands.

"When I was a child in New York I'd see tall, beautiful women walking down the avenue with huge beautiful dogs on the ends of their leashes. So I told my mother I needed,--not wanted -- a big beautiful dog so I could be a tall beautiful woman.

"Well my mother bought me that dog and I was still the same old Diana. Later on I started thinking perhaps my neck was too long, then I decided it was too short. I was always looking for that one thing that would make me the most beautiful, talented actress in the world."

After Miss Sands had studied acting for a while, she developed a new "misunderstanding," as she puts it. "I was going to be such a great actress I changed my whole tone of voice. I mean I was so overflowing with greatness that I said things such as 'Charmed to meet you' and 'Indeed not!' and 'Rather!'--all with an uppity air. Fortunately people who knew me just laughed and thought I was clowing. Then as I learned acting and began to really know what I was doing on stage I realized all that was ridiculous.

"Now I try to totally immerse myself in a role and forget Diana completely. I find myself on stage doing things -- gestures, movements -- things that I don't even plan to do. They just happen and they're things Diana never does, they belong to the character I'm portraying."

Diana Sands' first big break in acting came with her role as Beneatha in the New York version of Lorraine Hansberry's play, "A Raisin in the Sun," starring Sidney Poitier.

Her career then centered on the stage, principally New York and London. She has done everything from Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra" to the femme lead in "The Owl and The Pussycat."
